FEATURED FAQ #1

News Trading Allowed?

News trading is allowed on every programme that carries a consistency score — 1 Step Standard, 2 Step Standard and Instant Funding. It is not permitted on 2 Step Pro, which has no consistency requirement. Positions may be held overnight and over the weekend on all programmes.

FEATURED FAQ #2

About 2-Step Pro

The 2-Step Pro Challenge is a two-stage evaluation (10% Phase 1 target, 5% Phase 2 target) featuring no consistency score requirement, a static 8% maximum loss limit (4% daily drawdown), and up to an 80% profit split once funded. Note that news trading is not permitted on this account type.

FEATURED FAQ #3

Is Copy Trading Allowed?

Yes. Copy trading is permitted across all programmes. Accounts are still assessed individually against their own objectives, risk limits and consistency requirements.

FEATURED FAQ #4

Can I Reset Phase 2?

Yes. A Phase 2 reset costs 2.5 times the applicable discounted challenge price, and the profit split on the reset account is reduced to 65%.

Part 2: Master Website & Platform FAQs

34 CORE QUESTIONS

Official questions and answers served by the live website and Strapi CMS regarding challenges, payouts, risk rules, and trading conditions.

FAQ #1

News Trading Allowed?

News trading is allowed on every programme that carries a consistency score — 1 Step Standard, 2 Step Standard and Instant Funding. It is not permitted on 2 Step Pro, which has no consistency requirement. Positions may be held overnight and over the weekend on all programmes.

FAQ #2

About 2-Step Pro

The 2-Step Pro Challenge is a two-stage evaluation (10% Phase 1 target, 5% Phase 2 target) featuring no consistency score requirement, a static 8% maximum loss limit (4% daily drawdown), and up to an 80% profit split once funded. Note that news trading is not permitted on this account type.

FAQ #3

Is Copy Trading Allowed?

Yes. Copy trading is permitted across all programmes. Accounts are still assessed individually against their own objectives, risk limits and consistency requirements.

FAQ #4

Can I Reset Phase 2?

Yes. A Phase 2 reset costs 2.5 times the applicable discounted challenge price, and the profit split on the reset account is reduced to 65%.

FAQ #5

How does the CK Propfirm evaluation work?

Most CK Propfirm challenges are structured as a one- or two-step evaluation. You trade a simulated account to a published profit target while staying within the daily and overall drawdown limits. Pass the evaluation and you receive a funded account with the firm capital.

FAQ #6

How fast are payouts processed?

Every approved payout is guaranteed within 48 hours. Add the 24 Hour Payout option to your account and that guarantee shortens to 24 hours. Funds leave your trading balance within minutes of approval and reach your payment method by crypto or bank transfer.

FAQ #7

Is there a minimum profit before I can request a payout?

Yes. Each payout cycle has a minimum net profit before a request is eligible: $250 on a $10K account, $625 on $25K, $1,250 on $50K, $2,500 on $100K, $5,000 on $200K and $7,500 on $300K. From the second payout onwards those thresholds rise to $300, $750, $1,500, $3,000, $6,000 and $9,000. The target resets to zero once a withdrawal is approved. These establish eligibility — they are not automatic payouts.

FAQ #8

What is the profit split on a funded account?

Profit splits vary by account size and challenge type. Most CK Propfirm funded accounts start at 80% to the trader and step up with performance milestones. The current splits are listed in the challenges table on this page.

FAQ #9

How long does a payout take?

Payout timing depends on the firm and the method you choose. Crypto and Riseworks are typically the fastest (often within 24–48 hours), while bank wires can take 3–5 business days. Check the firm website for the published SLA.

FAQ #10

What is the protected account buffer?

Your funded account keeps a mandatory safety cushion, and only capital above that baseline can be withdrawn. The required balances are $10,700 on a $10K account, $26,100 on $25K, $52,100 on $50K, $103,100 on $100K, $206,100 on $200K and $309,100 on $300K. Your balance after a withdrawal must still sit at or above the baseline.

FAQ #11

Can I use Expert Advisors or automated strategies?

EA and automated-strategy policies vary by firm and plan — the challenges table on this page flags which plans allow them, including any per-trade lot cap or consistency requirement. Always confirm on the firm website before deploying an EA on a live challenge.

FAQ #12

Is there a limit on how much I can withdraw?

There is no minimum payout amount. Your first five withdrawals may not exceed 3% of the initial account balance; from the sixth that cap is removed and withdrawals are unlimited. Every withdrawal must still leave your balance at or above the required account buffer — if the buffer is breached, the account is breached.

FAQ #13

Is news trading allowed during high-impact events?

News trading policies vary by firm and plan. Where restrictions apply, they typically black out a few minutes before and after scheduled high-impact releases. Check the challenges table on this page and verify the current rule on the firm website before each major event.

FAQ #14

How does the consistency rule work on a funded account?

Your single best trading day cannot exceed a set share of total profit in the current cycle, and the calculation resets after every approved payout. The limit depends on your programme: 30% on 1 Step Standard, 50% on 2 Step Standard, 20% on Instant, and no consistency requirement on 2 Step Pro. For example, a $1,200 best day under a 30% rule needs the cycle total to reach $4,000 before the payout qualifies.

FAQ #15

How does the trailing drawdown work?

The trailing drawdown is calculated on your closed end-of-day balance, not intraday equity, so floating profit never raises your floor. The allowance is a fixed dollar amount from your starting balance — 6% on 1 Step Standard, 8% on 2 Step Standard and 5% on Instant. The floor only ratchets upward and locks permanently at your starting balance once you reach that same percentage in profit. 2 Step Pro uses a static 8% drawdown that never trails. Breach monitoring is live and continuous even though the threshold recalculates once a day.

FAQ #16

What happens if I hit the drawdown limit?

Hitting the maximum or daily drawdown limit ends the evaluation and the account is closed. Some CK Propfirm plans include a free retry or a discounted re-entry — check the rules page for the current policy before purchasing.

FAQ #17

Can I trade while a payout is pending?

Yes, but treat the requested amount as already deducted. Trading into the buffer before approval can cause the request to be rejected, and falling below the baseline after the deduction puts the account at risk. Once submitted, a withdrawal request cannot be modified or cancelled.

FAQ #18

What happens if I breach the lot size rules?

A lot size breach returns the account to Phase 1, whether it happens during an evaluation phase or on a funded account. You restart the programme from the beginning rather than losing it outright.

FAQ #19

Which countries can open an account?

CK Propfirm accepts traders from most countries, including the United Arab Emirates. Traders in the United States and Canada trade exclusively on TradeLocker. A small number of jurisdictions remain restricted; if you are unsure, contact support before purchasing.

FAQ #20

What happens if I stop trading for a while?

An account is considered inactive after 28 consecutive days without a trade. Keep at least one trade inside any 28-day window to keep the account live.

FAQ #21

How much do top-ups and resets cost?

A top-up is 6% of the already discounted challenge price, and a reset is 10% of it — both calculated from the price you actually paid, not the full list price.

FAQ #22

How much simulated capital can I hold at once?

2 Step Standard allows up to $300,000 in allocation. All other programmes allow up to $500,000 combined across accounts. The total across a single household is capped at $750,000, with a maximum of five accounts per household.

FAQ #23

Can I reset a Phase 2 account?

Yes. A Phase 2 reset costs 2.5 times the applicable discounted challenge price, and the profit split on the reset account is reduced to 65%.

FAQ #24

Can I reset a funded account?

Yes. A funded account reset costs 4 times the applicable challenge price. The profit split on the reset account is reduced to 65% and a 20% consistency requirement applies.

FAQ #25

Are there any time limits on challenges?

No! CK Propfirm has zero time limits on challenge evaluations. Trade at your own pace without pressure to hit arbitrary deadlines.

FAQ #26

What platforms do you support?

CK Propfirm supports both MetaTrader 5 (MT5) and TradeLocker with advanced charting, real-time market data, and fast execution.

FAQ #27

What profit splits do you offer?

CK Propfirm offers an 80% profit split for verified traders on funded accounts. You keep 80% of your trading profits.

FAQ #28

What are the drawdown rules?

Our risk parameters are transparent: 4% maximum daily drawdown and 8% maximum overall drawdown based on starting balance.

FAQ #29

Can I trade news and hold over weekends?

News trading is allowed on every programme that carries a consistency score — 1 Step Standard, 2 Step Standard and Instant Funding. It is not permitted on 2 Step Pro, which has no consistency requirement. Positions may be held overnight and over the weekend on all programmes.

FAQ #30

What is the consistency rule?

We promote sustainable risk management and consistent trading habits across all challenge phases.

FAQ #31

Do you accept crypto payments and payouts?

Yes, we support major cryptocurrencies and bank transfers for both evaluation purchases and reward distributions.

FAQ #32

Is the challenge fee refundable?

Yes, challenge fees are refunded with your first eligible reward payout upon qualifying as a CK Trader.

FAQ #33

Are Expert Advisors (EAs) and bots allowed?

Yes, algorithmic trading, EAs, and indicators are welcome as long as they follow standard risk guidelines.

FAQ #34

How quickly can I start trading with Instant Funding?

You can be trading within minutes of purchase. Instant Funding accounts are activated immediately.

Payouts & Profit Splits

What is the profit split at CK Prop Firm?

Approved payouts follow an 80/20 profit split. Traders receive 80% of the approved withdrawal amount, while CK Prop Firm retains 20%.

What are the minimum profit requirements for payouts?

You must reach the minimum net profit threshold for your account size during each payout cycle. Meeting the threshold makes you eligible to request a payout but does not guarantee approval.

Do profit targets reset after a payout?

Yes. Once a withdrawal is approved, your profit target resets to zero for the next payout cycle. You must meet the applicable minimum profit requirement again before requesting another withdrawal.

When can I withdraw all my remaining profits?

Unlimited withdrawals begin after the 5th payout.

Is reaching the minimum profit target enough to guarantee a payout?

No. Reaching the minimum profit target establishes eligibility to request a payout. Your account must also comply with the applicable consistency requirements, protected account buffer, trading rules, terms and conditions, and account agreement.

ARTICLE 12

Updated: 2026-10-09

Do you have any lot size limits?

Yes we have the following limits depending on account size

$5,000 - Max 2.5 lots
$10,000 - Max 5 lots
$25,000 - Max 10 lots
$50,000 - Max 20 lots
$100,000 - Max 40 lots
$200,000 - Max 60 lots
$300,000 - Max 60 lots

Note: Max lot size difference means you can't open more than the allowed max lot per account at a time. Example: On a $100K account with a 40 max lot limit, you can't open more than 40 lots on a a combination of all pairs. Example: A $100,000 account with an active trade of EURUSD for 39 lots alongside a trade of XAUUSD with 2 lots would be a violation of the limit as the total is 41.

ARTICLE 22

Updated: 2026-01-31

What happens if I violate a trading rule?

Violation of a trading rule will result in a breach of the account with no compensation or refund. We stress the importance of being familiar with all rules in our challenges when seeking to enter our trading program.

ARTICLE 23

Updated: 2026-03-12

Is Hedging allowed?

No, hedging is not allowed.

Hedging is strictly prohibited. Opening buy and sell positions simultaneously on the same asset is not allowed.

Additionally, using hedging to exploit price or spread differences (arbitrage), or hedging across multiple evaluation accounts, is also not permitted and may result in account forfeiture.

ARTICLE 24

Updated: 2026-10-09

Do you have any anti gambling policies?

At CK Prop Firm, we firmly believe that any trades or strategies resembling gambling do not align with the traits of a proficient trader who can navigate risk, secure profits, and exhibit market consistency. Engaging in such activities will lead to contract termination and removal of your accounts.

2-Step Pro Challenge

Profit Targets & Evaluation Stages

What is the Phase 1 profit target?

Traders must achieve a 10% profit target to pass Phase 1.

What is the Phase 2 profit target?

Traders must achieve a 5% profit target to successfully complete Phase 2.

How many minimum trading days are required?

Traders must complete at least one trading day in each evaluation phase.

Funded Account & Consistency

Is there a consistency rule?

No, consistency rule does not apply to 2-Step Pro Challenge.

Drawdown Rules

What is the maximum drawdown?

The maximum drawdown is 8% of the initial account balance and is static.

How does static drawdown work?

The drawdown threshold remains fixed relative to the initial account balance and does not trail upward as the account generates profits. For example, on a $100,000 account, the 8% static drawdown threshold is $92,000. Even if the account balance increases to $105,000, the threshold remains at $92,000.

Can the static drawdown threshold move?

No. The threshold remains fixed relative to the initial account balance.

What is the daily loss limit?

The daily loss limit is 4%. It is calculated using the higher of your account balance or equity at the start of the trading day. Exceeding the permitted daily loss limit results in an account breach.

News Trading

Is news trading allowed?

No, news-trading is not permitted for the 2-Step Pro Challenge.

Inactivity Policy

How long can my account remain inactive?

Accounts are subject to a 28-day inactivity rule. To remain active, you must open and close at least one trade within the permitted inactivity period. Failure to complete a trade within 28 consecutive days may result in an account breach.

Lot Size Rules

What are the maximum lot size limits?

Maximum combined open lot limits apply to all account types.

Account Size	Maximum Combined Open Lots
$5,000	2.5 lots
$10,000	5 lots
$25,000	10 lots
$50,000	20 lots
$100,000	40 lots
$200,000	60 lots
$300,000	60 lots

Do lot size limits apply to all open trades combined?

Yes. The maximum lot limit applies to the combined size of all open trades across instruments. You must not exceed the permitted total at any time. For example, on a $100,000 account, opening 39 lots on EURUSD and 2 lots on XAUUSD results in 41 combined lots, exceeding the 40-lot limit.

Payout Rules

Is there a funded consistency requirement?

No, consistency rule does not apply to 2-Step Pro Challenge.

What is the minimum profit required for each payout cycle?

Account Size	First Payout	Second Payout Onwards
$10,000	$250	$300
$25,000	$625	$750
$50,000	$1,250	$1,500

Account Size	First Payout	Second Payout Onwards
$100,000	$2,500	$3,000
$200,000	$5,000	$6,000
$300,000	$7,500	$9,000

Meeting the applicable threshold does not guarantee payout approval.

Is there a minimum payout amount?

No. There is no minimum payout amount. Traders must meet the applicable profit requirements and maintain the required account buffer after withdrawals. If the required buffer is breached, the account is considered breached.

What is the required account buffer?

Account Size	Required Balance
$10,000	$10,700
$25,000	$26,100
$50,000	$52,100
$100,000	$103,100
$200,000	$206,100
$300,000	$309,100

Only funds above the required baseline balance are available for withdrawal, subject to applicable payout rules.

What is the payout profit split?

Approved payouts follow an 80/20 profit split. Traders receive 80% of the approved withdrawal amount, while CK Prop Firm retains 20%.

How long do payouts take?

Once approved, the withdrawal is deducted from the trading balance and disbursed to the payment method within two business days.

Can I trade while a payout is pending?

Yes. However, you must treat the requested withdrawal as already deducted. Trading into the protected buffer before approval may cause rejection. Falling below the required threshold after deduction risks your account.

When do unrestricted withdrawals begin?

Unrestricted withdrawals begin after the fifth payout. All other applicable payout requirements remain in effect.

Traders must achieve a 5% profit target to successfully complete Phase 2.

How many minimum trading days are required?

Traders must complete at least one trading day in each evaluation phase.

Funded Account & Consistency

What is the funded consistency rule?

The 2-Step Standard funded account has a 50% consistency requirement.

Your single most profitable trading day cannot account for more than 50% of your total profit during the current payout cycle.

How is consistency calculated?

Your best trading day's profit is divided by your total profit for the current payout cycle. For example, if your best trading day generates $1,200, your total cycle profit must reach at least $2,400 to satisfy the 50% consistency requirement.

Does the consistency calculation reset after a payout?

Yes. The consistency calculation resets following every approved payout.

Drawdown Rules

What is the maximum drawdown?

The maximum drawdown is 8% of the initial account balance and follows a trailing drawdown structure.

How does trailing drawdown work?

The drawdown threshold is calculated using your closed end-of-day (EOD) balance. It moves upward as your account records higher qualifying EOD balances. Once your EOD balance reaches a profit equal to 8% of your initial account balance, the threshold locks at the initial starting balance under the main drawdown policy.

Do floating profits increase the drawdown threshold?

No. Intraday floating profits and temporary balance peaks do not raise the threshold. Only qualifying closed profits reflected in the EOD balance can move it upward.

Can the drawdown threshold move back down?

No. Once the threshold moves upward, it does not move back down, even if the account subsequently incurs losses.

Can my account breach the drawdown limit during the trading day?

Yes. Breach monitoring is continuous. If your account equity or balance falls below the active drawdown threshold during trading hours, your account is breached.

What is the daily loss limit?

The daily loss limit is 4%. It is calculated using the higher of your account balance or equity at the start of the trading day. Exceeding the permitted daily loss limit results in an account breach.

News Trading

Is news trading allowed?

Yes, news trading is permitted on the 2-Step Standard Challenge.

Inactivity Policy

What happens if I do not trade for an extended period?

Accounts are subject to a 28-day inactivity rule. To remain active, you must open and close at least one trade within the permitted inactivity period. Failure to complete a trade within 28 consecutive days may result in an account breach.

Lot Size Rules

What are the maximum lot size limits?

Maximum combined open lot limits apply to all account types.

Account Size	Maximum Combined Open Lots
$5,000	2.5 lots
$10,000	5 lots
$25,000	10 lots
$50,000	20 lots
$100,000	40 lots
$200,000	60 lots
$300,000	60 lots

Do lot size limits apply to all open trades combined?

Yes. The maximum lot limit applies to the combined size of all open trades across instruments. You must not exceed the permitted total at any time. For example, on a $100,000 account, opening 39 lots on EURUSD and 2 lots on XAUUSD results in 41 combined lots, exceeding the 40-lot limit.

Payout Rules

What is the funded consistency requirement?

The funded consistency requirement is 50%. Your best trading day must not account for more than 50% of your total profit during the current payout cycle.

What is the minimum profit required for each payout cycle?

Account Size	First Payout	Second Payout Onwards
$10,000	$250	$300
$25,000	$625	$750
$50,000	$1,250	$1,500
$100,000	$2,500	$3,000
$200,000	$5,000	$6,000
$300,000	$7,500	$9,000

Meeting the applicable threshold does not guarantee payout approval.

Is there a minimum payout amount?

No. There is no minimum payout amount. Traders must meet the applicable profit requirements and maintain the required account buffer after withdrawals. If the required buffer is breached, the account is considered breached.

What is the required account buffer?

Account Size	Required Balance
$10,000	$10,700
$25,000	$26,100
$50,000	$52,100
$100,000	$103,100
$200,000	$206,100

Account Size	Required Balance
$300,000	$309,100

Only funds above the required baseline balance are available for withdrawal, subject to applicable payout rules.

What is the payout profit split?

Approved payouts follow an 80/20 profit split. Traders receive 80% of the approved withdrawal amount, while CK Prop Firm retains 20%.

How long do payouts take?

Once approved, the withdrawal is deducted from the trading balance and disbursed to the payment method within two business days.

Can I trade while a payout is pending?

Yes. However, you must treat the requested withdrawal as already deducted. Trading into the protected buffer before approval may cause rejection. Falling below the required threshold after deduction risks your account.

When do unrestricted withdrawals begin?

Unrestricted withdrawals begin after the fifth payout. All other applicable payout requirements remain in effect.

1 Step Standard Challenge

Profit Targets & Evaluation

What is the profit target?

Traders must achieve a 10% profit target to successfully complete the 1-Step Standard evaluation and qualify for a funded account, subject to all applicable rules.

How many evaluation phases are required?

The 1-Step Standard Challenge consists of one evaluation phase with a 10% profit target.

How many minimum trading days are required?

1 minimum trading day per phase is required for the 1-Step Standard Challenge.

Funded Account & Consistency

What is the funded consistency rule?

The 1-Step Standard funded account has a 30% consistency requirement.

Your single most profitable trading day cannot account for more than 30% of your total profit during the current payout cycle.

How is consistency calculated?

Your best trading day's profit is divided by your total profit for the current payout cycle. For example, if your best trading day generates $1,200, your total cycle profit must reach at least $4,000 to satisfy the 30% consistency requirement.

Does the consistency calculation reset after a payout?

Yes. Following an approved payout, the consistency calculation resets for the next payout cycle.

Drawdown Rules

What is the maximum drawdown?

The maximum drawdown is 6% of the initial account balance and follows a trailing drawdown structure.

How does trailing drawdown work?

The drawdown threshold is calculated using your closed end-of-day (EOD) balance. It moves upward as your account records higher qualifying EOD balances.

Once your EOD balance reaches a profit equal to 6% of your initial account balance, the threshold locks at the initial starting balance under the main drawdown policy.

Do floating profits increase the drawdown threshold?

No. Intraday floating profits and temporary balance peaks do not raise the threshold. Only qualifying closed profits reflected in the EOD balance can move it upward.

Can the drawdown threshold move back down?

No. Once the threshold moves upward, it does not move back down, even if your account subsequently incurs losses.

Can my account breach the drawdown limit during the trading day?

Yes. Breach monitoring is continuous. If your account equity or balance falls below the active drawdown threshold during trading hours, your account is breached.

What is the daily loss limit?

The daily loss limit is 3%. It is calculated using the higher of your account balance or equity at the start of the trading day. Exceeding the permitted daily loss limit results in an account breach.

News Trading

Is news trading allowed?

Yes, news-trading is permitted for the 1-Step Standard Challenge.

Inactivity Policy

How long can my account remain inactive?

$5,000	2.5 lots
$10,000	5 lots
$25,000	10 lots
$50,000	20 lots
$100,000	40 lots
$200,000	60 lots
$300,000	60 lots

Do lot size limits apply to all open trades combined?

Yes. The maximum lot limit applies to the combined size of all open trades across instruments. You must not exceed the permitted total at any time.

For example, on a $100,000 account, opening 39 lots on EURUSD and 2 lots on XAUUSD results in 41 combined lots, exceeding the 40-lot limit.

Payout Rules

What is the funded consistency requirement?

The funded consistency requirement is 30%, calculated using your best trading day relative to your total profit during the current payout cycle.

What is the minimum profit required for each payout cycle?

Account Size	First Payout	Second Payout Onwards
$10,000	$250	$300
$25,000	$625	$750
$50,000	$1,250	$1,500

Funded Account & Consistency

What is the funded consistency rule?

Instant Funding has a 20% consistency requirement. Your single most profitable trading day cannot account for more than 20% of your total profit during the current payout cycle.

How is consistency calculated?

Your best trading day's profit is divided by your total profit for the current payout cycle. For example, if your best trading day generates $1,000, your total cycle profit must reach at least $5,000 to satisfy a 20% consistency requirement.

Does the consistency calculation reset after a payout?

Yes. The consistency calculation resets following every approved payout.

Drawdown Rules

What is the maximum drawdown?

Instant Funding has a 5% trailing maximum drawdown.

How does trailing drawdown work?

The drawdown threshold is calculated using your closed end-of-day (EOD) balance. It moves upward as your account records higher qualifying EOD balances. Once your EOD balance reaches a profit equal to 5% of your initial account balance, the threshold locks at the initial starting balance under the main drawdown policy.

Do floating profits increase the drawdown threshold?

No. Intraday floating profits and temporary balance peaks do not raise the threshold. Only qualifying closed profits reflected in the EOD balance can move it upward.

Can the drawdown threshold move back down?

No. Once the threshold moves upward, it does not move back down, even if your account subsequently incurs losses.

Can my account breach the drawdown limit during the trading day?

Yes. Breach monitoring is continuous. If your account equity or balance falls below the active drawdown threshold during trading hours, your account is breached.

What is the daily loss limit?

How Does the Consistency Rule Work?

What is the consistency rule?

The consistency rule limits how much of your total profit for the current payout cycle can come from your single most profitable trading day. Its purpose is to encourage disciplined trading and discourage excessive risk-taking.

What are the funded consistency requirements for each account type?

Account Type	Consistency Requirement
1-Step Standard	30%
2-Step Standard	50%
2-Step Pro	Not applicable
Instant Funding	20%

How is the consistency score calculated?

Your best trading day's profit is divided by your total profit for the current payout cycle. The result must not exceed the consistency percentage applicable to your account. For example, if your best day generates $1,200 and your total cycle profit is $1,600, your best day represents 75% of your total profit. This would fail a 30% consistency requirement.

How can I meet the consistency requirement without losing my profits?

You can continue trading and building additional profits until your best day's profit represents an acceptable percentage of your total cycle profit, provided you continue to comply with all trading rules. For example, if your best trading day generated $1,200 under a 30% consistency rule, your total cycle profit would need to reach at least $4,000: $1,200 ÷ 0.30 = $4,000.

Does the consistency calculation reset after a payout?

Yes. The consistency calculation resets after every approved payout. The next payout cycle is evaluated independently.

Does the consistency rule apply to every account type?

No. The 2-Step Pro account has no consistency score requirement. The 1-Step Standard, 2-Step Standard, and Instant Funding accounts have requirements of 30%, 50%, and 20%, respectively.

Daily Drawdown

The Daily Loss Limit is the maximum amount you are allowed to lose in a single trading day. It is calculated using the higher value between your account balance and equity at the start of the trading day. Breaching this rule is a hard violation and will result in account closure.

For 2 Step accounts: Daily Loss Limit = 4% of the higher value between starting balance or equity.

Example 1 – Higher Equity:
Balance: $102,000
Equity: $104,000
Daily loss limit is based on $104,000, meaning your equity must not fall below $100,000 during the day.

Example 2 – Higher Balance:
Balance: $100,000
Equity: $98,000
Daily loss limit is based on $100,000, meaning your equity must not fall below $96,000 during the day.

Important notes:

- Both floating and closed PnL count toward the daily loss limit.
- Equity must never touch or go below the limit at any point during the day.
- The Daily Loss Limit resets at 22:00 Server Time (GMT).
- You can check the reset timer anytime on your CK Propfirm dashboard.

Maximum Drawdown

The Maximum Static Drawdown is the maximum loss allowed on the account, calculated as a fixed percentage of the initial starting balance. This drawdown level never moves, even if the account grows.

Drawdown Limits by Account Type:

- 2 Step Standard:

8% static drawdown

- 2 Step Lightweight:

8% static drawdown

- 2 Step Middleweight:

12% static drawdown

Example – 2 Step Standard / Lightweight (8%):
Starting balance: $100,000
Maximum allowed loss: $8,000
If balance or equity drops below $92,000, the account is breached and all trades are closed. Even if the account grows to $110,000, the drawdown level remains at $92,000.

Example – 2 Step Middleweight (12%):
Starting balance: $100,000
Maximum allowed loss: $12,000
If balance or equity drops below $88,000, the account is breached and all trades are closed. Even if the account grows to $110,000, the drawdown level remains at $88,000.

Maximum Trailing Drawdown

What is maximum trailing drawdown?

Maximum trailing drawdown is a loss limit that moves upward as your account records higher closed end-of-day balances. It is designed to protect the account against excessive losses while allowing the drawdown floor to rise as profits accumulate.

Which accounts use trailing drawdown?

- 1-Step Standard: 6% trailing drawdown.
- 2-Step Standard: 8% trailing drawdown.
- Instant Funding: 5% trailing drawdown.
- 2-Step Pro: 8% static drawdown.

How is trailing drawdown calculated?

The threshold is calculated using your closed end-of-day balance. It updates at daily market rollover, and only closed profits recorded by that time can move the threshold upward. Temporary intraday balance peaks and floating profits do not raise the drawdown threshold.

Does the trailing drawdown threshold move downward if I lose money?

No. Once the drawdown threshold moves upward, it does not move back down, even if the account subsequently incurs losses.

When does trailing drawdown stop moving?

Trailing drawdown stops moving once the closed end-of-day balance reaches a profit equal to the applicable drawdown percentage above the initial balance. The threshold then locks at the initial starting balance. For example, on a $100,000 account with a 5% trailing drawdown, the threshold starts at $95,000. Once the qualifying end-of-day balance reaches $105,000, the threshold locks at $100,000.

What is the difference between trailing and static drawdown?

Trailing drawdown rises with qualifying end-of-day balance increases until it reaches its specified cap. Static drawdown remains fixed relative to the initial account balance.

For a $100,000 account:

- An 8% trailing drawdown starts at $92,000 and can rise until it locks at $100,000 under the main policy.
- An 8% static drawdown starts at $92,000 and remains at that level throughout the challenge.

Do floating profits count toward increasing my drawdown threshold?

No. Only closed profits reflected in the end-of-day balance can increase the trailing drawdown threshold. Intraday floating profits do not change the floor.

Can my account breach the drawdown limit during the trading day?

Yes. Although the threshold is recalculated at daily rollover, Breach monitoring is continuous. If your account equity or balance falls below the active threshold during trading hours, the account is breached.

How much is the drawdown allowance on a $100,000 account?

The following are fixed-dollar allowances for a $100,000 account:

- 5% drawdown: $5,000.
- 6% drawdown: $6,000.
- 8% drawdown: $8,000.

Can you provide an example of 5% trailing drawdown?

Consider a $100,000 Instant Funding account with a 5% trailing drawdown.

- Starting balance: $100,000.
- Initial drawdown threshold: $95,000.
- End-of-day balance rises to $102,000: threshold rises to $97,000.
- End-of-day balance rises to $103,500: threshold rises to $98,500.
- End-of-day balance reaches $105,500: threshold locks at $100,000 under the main policy.
- If the balance later reaches $115,000, the threshold remains at $100,000.

Protected Account Buffer & Withdrawal Limits

What is the protected account buffer?

The protected account buffer is a mandatory safety cushion that must remain in your funded account. Only funds above the required baseline balance are available for withdrawal, subject to all other payout conditions.

What is the required account balance for each account size?

Account Size	Required Account Balance
$10,000	$10,700
$25,000	$26,100
$50,000	$52,100
$100,000	$103,100
$200,000	$206,100
$300,000	$309,100

How is my available withdrawal amount calculated?

Your available withdrawal amount is calculated by subtracting the required baseline balance from your current account balance. Available amount = Current balance – Required baseline balance. The resulting amount represents the maximum balance excess available before applying the applicable withdrawal caps, profit split, and other payout conditions.

Can I withdraw funds that would reduce my account below the required buffer?

No. Your account balance after the requested withdrawal must remain at or above the required baseline balance.

Can you provide an example of the protected buffer calculation?

Consider a $50,000 account with a required baseline balance of $52,100 and a current balance of $53,500.

- Current balance: $53,500
- Required baseline balance: $52,100
- Balance available above the buffer: $1,400
- Trader's 80% share of $1,400: $1,120
- Remaining account balance after deducting $1,400: $52,100

This illustrates the buffer calculation and the 80/20 split. Actual approval remains subject to the applicable withdrawal caps and all other rules.

Are there limits on my first withdrawals?

Yes. A user's first five withdrawals may not exceed 3% of the initial account balance. After the fifth withdrawal, this 3% cap is removed.

Is the 3% withdrawal cap removed after my fifth withdrawal?

Yes. The 3% cap applies to the first five withdrawals and is removed after the fifth withdrawal. All other applicable payout conditions must still be satisfied.

Part 4: Regulatory Disclosures & Risk Warnings

COMPLIANCE

Important Legal & Regulatory Disclosures

CK Propfirm (Incorporated in the United Kingdom) provides proprietary trading evaluation programmes operating exclusively within simulated and demo trading environments. All accounts, challenges, and funded stages utilize virtual funds with fictitious capital. CK Propfirm does not conduct live financial market trading for customers, does not act as a broker or custodian, and does not accept, hold, or solicit customer deposits or investment funds.

No Investment Advice: All information, educational materials, market analysis, tools, and communications provided by CK Propfirm are for evaluation and informational purposes only and must not be construed as investment advice, financial advice, or an offer or solicitation to buy or sell any financial instrument.

Simulated Performance Limitations: Hypothetical or simulated performance results have inherent limitations. Unlike actual trading records, simulated results do not represent actual trading and do not account for market liquidity, slippage, or real financial risk. Past performance in simulated environments is not indicative of future results.

Program Fees: Participation in any of our programmes is entirely voluntary, and all fees paid are strictly service fees for educational evaluation. Program fees are non-refundable once paid, except where required by applicable law, and do not represent deposits or investments.
